

ACT AMERICORPS COMMUNITY TRAINING FOR OVERDOSE RESCUE +

FALL 2024 INFORMATION PACKET

Updated 4.5.2024 by Chelsea Mudalagi

Thank you for your interest in the AmeriCorps Community Training for Overdose Rescue (ACT) program! We look forward to learning more about you during the recruitment process, and we'd like to share some more information about us. This packet provides detailed information about the ACT program, the applicant screening and on-boarding process, and the role of an Overdose Rescue Trainer.

Despite being preventable and treatable, overdoses from heroin, fentanyl and other opioids continue to cause an alarming number of deaths in our region, devastating many in our communities. ACT aims to stop overdose deaths, reduce harm caused by opioids, and strengthen community engagement in addressing public health challenges. Our ACT AmeriCorps members serve a critical role in meeting these goals, and ACT is committed to providing our AmeriCorps members with an enriching and impactful service experience. Each year our team trains over 1,000 people from all walks of life in Metro Detroit to respond in an opioid related overdose emergency.

We'd be happy to further discuss any questions you may have! We are looking forward to forming our newest ACT Team!

In community partnership,

Lauren Meloche, Program Director

Chelsea Mudalagi, Member Support Coordinator

Ja'Lea Echols, Outreach Coordinator

Ushna Khan, Onboarding Coordinator

Tijuana, ACT Member, Cohort 14

What is the AmeriCorps Community Training for Overdose Rescue (ACT) program?

Our Mission

To provide community members in southeast Michigan with information, training, and tools to stop overdose deaths and reduce harm related to opioids.

Key Objectives

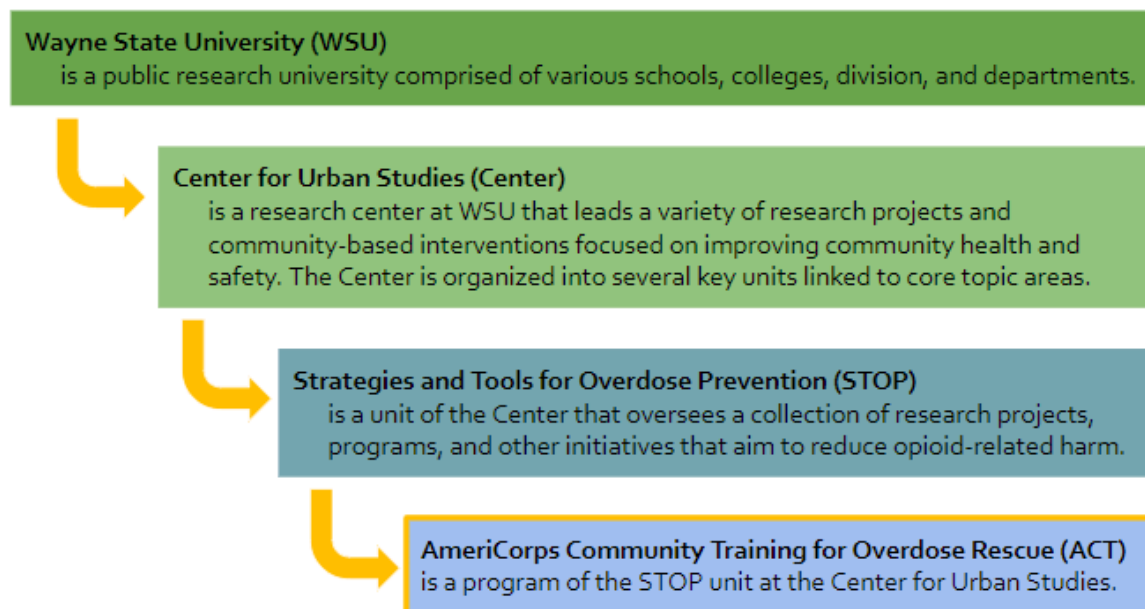

Each year, ACT will:

- Deliver 17,000 hours of service to the community by recruiting leaders across the region to commit to and successfully complete an AmeriCorps service term as an Overdose Rescue Trainer
- Train 800 community members in Overdose Rescue preparedness strategies
- Distribute 800 Overdose Rescue Kits containing life-saving Narcan nasal spray (an overdose-reversing medicine).

Organizational Framework

The AmeriCorps Community Training for Overdose Rescue (ACT) program is administered by the Center for Urban Studies at Wayne State University (see the organizational diagram below).

The ACT program is funded by AmeriCorps – a federal agency that supports community service and volunteerism by awarding grant funding to community-level organizations across the country to implement service-based programs. As an AmeriCorps sponsored program, ACT is part of a national network of independent programs that all incorporate community service as a key strategy for addressing critical community challenges.

Note: Please refer to the Glossary at the end of this packet for more information about key terms.

An AmeriCorps Term of Service with ACT

As an ACT Member you will be an Overdose Rescue Trainer- teaching others in the community how to provide first aid during an opioid overdose emergency to help save lives.

This AmeriCorps service position is different from a traditional employment or academic opportunity - it is a paid opportunity to develop real-world skills and experience while making a positive difference in your community. See the following section for more information about our AmeriCorps Member benefits.

ACT welcomes candidates of all backgrounds, and we provide extensive training and professional development for incoming members. This AmeriCorps service position is a rewarding opportunity for students, professionals, and anyone who wants to make a difference in our community.

As an ACT service member, you will sign up for a six-month term of service (see term dates below). This is considered a quarter-time service position, which requires the member to serve a minimum of 450 hours during the term (average 20 hours per week through the six-month term). Members who do not meet the 450-hour minimum by the end of their term may not be eligible for the education award and other member benefits.

After successfully completing a quarter-time term, members may extend their service by enrolling in another term (selection for an additional term of service is dependent on program needs and member performance during previous terms).

A living allowance in the amount of $5,400

- o The living allowance will be distributed throughout the term in equal bi-weekly payments, in the form of a check.

- o The living allowance is subject to federal, state, and city taxes. The actual amount of your paycheck will depend on the number of allowances you claim when you complete a federal, state, and city W-4 form as part of your hiring paperwork. You can use this website to better estimate your biweekly pay:
<https://www.paycheckcity.com/calculator/salary/>

A Segal Education Award in the amount of $1,956.35

- o The award can be applied towards pursuing further education or training or to pay off existing qualified student loans. The award can typically be used at any institution that accepts federal aid.
- o This is not a cash award. Rather, it is disbursed directly by the National Service Trust to the school/program or to your lender.
- o Some institutions match this award with additional funding support (listed here):
<https://www.nationalservice.gov/programs/ameri-corps/segal-ameri-corps-education-award/matching-institutions>.
- o Members must successfully complete their service requirements and serve a minimum of 450 hours during their term to qualify for the Segal Education Award.
- o This award is also subject to taxes and it will be taxed in the year you use it.
- o You have 7 years after completing your term to use the award.

Loan forbearance on qualified student loans

- o During your term of service, you can request that qualified federal student loans be put into forbearance, meaning you will not need to make payments on your loan during your service term.
- o Once service has begun and you are enrolled as an AmeriCorps member, you will be able to request forbearance of qualified loans in the MyAmeriCorps system.
- o Upon successful completion of your term, you may also request the interest accrued on your qualifying loan while in forbearance during your term be paid by the National Service Trust.

Note: Please refer to the Glossary at the end of this packet for more information about key terms.

Extensive professional development

- A unique component of being an AmeriCorps member is receiving guided support and career development training.
- At the start of the term, members will receive comprehensive training about overdose first aid, community outreach and engagement strategies, public speaking and meeting facilitation, and other topics to ensure members are prepared to successfully carry out program activities.
- The ACT program will also provide members with additional learning opportunities and skill-building during the term that can be applied to future roles. The program intends to enhance social and civic competencies including communication, leadership, and team collaboration.
- ACT's professional development is designed to support members with foundational knowledge and skill-based training that allows them to successfully serve the community in a health education capacity, most of which directly aligns with the CDC's competencies for public health professionals.
- ACT offers CPR certification, guest speakers, exposure to a variety of community-based and professional public health spaces, and more!

"ACT connected me with like-minded individuals who are equally as passionate about public health and the community as me. Each person I met seasoned my life in different ways, exposing me to different perspectives and experiences that I would not have had otherwise. The memories I've made will stick with me forever"

Cohort 14 members participated in the statewide Russ Mawby Day of Service, Summer 2024

Overdose Rescue Trainer - Role and Daily Activities

ACT Overdose Rescue Trainings

ACT's Overdose Rescue Trainers hold weekly Overdose Rescue training sessions that anyone from the community may attend, and they also arrange private training sessions for groups or organizations. The photo below was taken at a Fall 2023 training with a local construction company who incorporated our efforts into their standard safety curriculum.

Each training session lasts approximately one hour. During the training presentation, you will present information about...

- The magnitude of the overdose crisis and its impact on our community
- How to recognize the signs of an opioid related overdose
- How to respond to an overdose including how and when to administer Narcan (a medicine that can reverse the effects of opioid overdose)
- How to perform CPR
- Aftercare considerations for overdose survivors.

At the end of the training, you will provide all participants...

- An Overdose Preparedness Kit containing instructions for providing aid, information about local treatment and recovery services, and a dose of Narcan - a medicine that reverses opioid overdose and is administered with an easy-to-use nasal spray device.
- Fentanyl test strips on request
- Other supplemental handouts as needed

Note: Please refer to the Glossary at the end of this packet for more information about key terms.

Outreach- Connecting the Community with ACT

A primary part of your role will include conducting outreach within the tri-county area to promote the training sessions and recruiting participants to attend the training. Training sessions may be attended by anyone in Southeast Michigan, and are particularly important for people who are likely to encounter an overdose emergency. These can include...

- Employees of local businesses
- Transit workers
- Librarians
- Street outreach teams
- Safety patrol groups
- Social service providers

...and more! Do you have ideas? ACT members also drive our outreach strategy, using their knowledge and lived experiences to suggest target populations in our service area.

ACT Service Tasks- Making the Trainings Happen

ACT members engage in the following tasks to successfully train people in the community:

- Recruit community members and groups to participate in Overdose Rescue training sessions by conducting outreach throughout metro-Detroit to promote the ACT program. Outreach methods may include distributing flyers, social media promotion, phone calls, emails to organization representatives, short presentations at community meetings, etc
- Develop tailored messaging to help appeal to specific audiences when promoting the trainings
- Collaborate with teammates to plan, prepare for, and promote the training session
- Coordinate the logistics for training sessions and facilitating the training events
- Deliver Overdose Rescue training presentation to participants and answer questions
- Distribute Overdose Preparedness Kits to training participants

Note: Please refer to the Glossary at the end of this packet for more information about key terms.

ACT Service Tasks- Expanding your Knowledge and Skills

Like we mentioned in the Member Benefits section, in addition to carrying out training sessions, members build their own knowledge and experience in a variety of areas in a team environment.

- During orientation and throughout the service term, members build foundational knowledge about the overdose crisis, harm reduction, and public health.
- Members also learn about intersectional issues related to the overdose crisis (ex: mental health, incarceration, homelessness, maternal health, veteran populations, etc.).
- As a team, members discuss articles and other media related to these topics.
- Guest speakers provide different perspectives on the overdose crisis and the efforts to address this issue.

These aspects of the service member experience provide many opportunities for peer leadership and professional development.

Maddi, Cohort 13, helps plan an outreach strategy for an upcoming training. Chris, Cohort 11, brushes up on his CPR skills. Sara, Cohort 15, and Julia, Cohort 14, practice applying a tourniquet as part of our Stop the Bleed professional development session with a guest presenter.

Note: Please refer to the Glossary at the end of this packet for more information about key terms.

ACT is a Hybrid Service Program

Incoming members should expect to serve the majority of hours in-person but because of the Covid-19 pandemic, our program adapted many service activities so they can be conducted in a virtual/remote format. Through this process we recognized the benefits of this added flexibility for our AmeriCorps members and program as a whole. In order to continue to offer this hybrid format, all ACT members and staff need to adhere to strict requirements from Wayne State University and AmeriCorps. Team members should be capable and comfortable serving together and completing tasks in a hybrid format (serving both in-person and remote). NOTE: If you know someone who served with us before January 2023, their service schedule requirements would have been very different from what you can expect serving with us in 2024. Please refer to About ACT's Schedule or contact us if you have questions about this.

What is Teleservice?

Teleservice is a term used to describe serving hours remotely from an appropriate alternative site, where a supervisor is unable to physically be present to verify hours, sometimes we call this virtual service. Per AmeriCorps requirements, teleservice is allowed under certain circumstances such as the COVID-19 pandemic, inclement weather, etc. AmeriCorps has decided to continue to allow this flexibility through some hybrid programs. Members are only permitted to complete certain pre-approved service activities remotely. You will receive a list of these activities every day via program email if you serve with us.

Generally during teleservice, team members collaborate with each other and program staff via Zoom, email, and other remote communication tools. Some community outreach activities and some overdose rescue training sessions are conducted online.

It is important that team members are comfortable communicating in a virtual manner with other team members and people in the community. Team members should be comfortable completing about 8-10 hours of virtual service each week, most of which will be self-directed. Members are expected to have reliable internet access, check their program email daily, and complete all required tasks by their due date.

We are a Public Health program, committed to...Public Health!

While the COVID-19 pandemic has thankfully lessened, we continue our commitment to public health and safety in service in the following ways:

- Our program adheres to WSU vaccine policies and members are expected to comply with them. At the time this document was written, WSU only requires a flu vaccine, with limited exceptions. You can read more about their policies here: wayne.edu/coronavirus
- ACT members will not be permitted to come into the office if they are experiencing symptoms of illness.
- ACT members are welcome to wear a mask, and our team will respect anyone's decision to wear a mask at any time, no questions asked.
- Everyone is encouraged to keep workspace surfaces clean, and run our air purifiers if multiple people are sharing a workspace.
- ACT Staff will implement further restrictions, rules, or recommendations should a future health-related situation arise during your term of service.

Note: Please refer to the Glossary at the end of this packet for more information about key terms.

Glossary

AmeriCorps – AmeriCorps is a national network of independent programs that incorporate community service as a key strategy for addressing critical community challenges. AmeriCorps programs respond to pressing issues facing our nation including providing education and mentoring to children, increasing access to nutrition and healthcare, improving housing and public safety, and addressing the opioid overdose epidemic. The ACT Program is an AmeriCorps State sponsored program. Corps is pronounced “CORE” (as in “apple core”), not “corpse”. For example, ACT is an “Ameri-Core” program, not an “Ameri-Corpse” program.

AmeriCorps Member – an individual serving in an AmeriCorps program. An AmeriCorps service member is not an employee, apprentice, or volunteer. Members receive a living allowance during their term and are eligible to receive an education award or alternative post-service benefit upon successful completion of their term.

Education Award – a benefit AmeriCorps members may receive after successful completion of a term of service. The award is directly paid to an educational institution and may be used for federal student loans, or to finance college, graduate school, or approved vocational training.

Living Allowance – a stipend, not a wage or salary. The living allowance is provided to AmeriCorps members who are actively enrolled and serving in a program and is distributed over the length of the term of service.

Service – helping others to meet critical community needs. AmeriCorps members participate in service programs across the U.S. to help improve the lives of individuals and communities. Service is not a job or employment.

Service Term – a committed period of service with an AmeriCorps program. AmeriCorps programs offer five types of terms (full time, half time, reduced half time, quarter time, and minimum time). All terms of service for the 2022-2023 year with the ACT program will be quarter-time slots consisting of 450 minimum required hours, completed over a 6-month period. Members may choose to complete more than one term during a year.

Opioid – a substance that binds to opioid receptors, which are located throughout the brain and body. Opioids are commonly used to relax the body and relieve pain. Opioid is a term that is inclusive of:

- opiates: naturally occurring substances derived from opium plants (e.g., morphine)
- semi-synthetic opioids: heroin, oxycodone
- fully synthetic opioids: fentanyl, tramadol

Overdose – occurs when a toxic amount of a drug, or combination of drugs, overwhelm the body. In an opioid overdose, the individual may become unresponsive to stimulation and their breathing slows or stops, which deprives the body of oxygen. An overdose can result in death, or if not fatal, may have other negative health consequences (e.g., brain damage). An opioid overdose can typically be stopped if an opioid antidote (naloxone) is administered quickly.

Overdose Epidemic – also called the opioid overdose crisis, is the continued sharp rise in opioid-related deaths since the 90s. However, opioid use disorder and overdose deaths caused by opioids have occurred before the recent opioid epidemic and occurred at particularly high rates beginning in the late 1960s.

Note: Please refer to the Glossary at the end of this packet for more information about key terms.

Naloxone / Narcan – is a lifesaving medication that should be administered during an opioid overdose emergency to reverse the effects of opioids. It is an FDA-approved medication and works as an opioid antagonist: The naloxone molecules block opioid receptor sites, essentially ‘kicking out’ any opioids that were bound to the receptors. This reverses the toxic effects of an overdose. The medication can be used safely by anyone in the community to provide first aid. An individual cannot become addicted to naloxone, and naloxone cannot cause harm if they receive too much of it or if the person has no opioids in their system. Narcan is a brand name of naloxone that comes in an easy-to-use nasal spray device.

Community First Responder – a volunteer member of the public who provides care during a medical emergency while waiting for professional help to arrive.

Harm Reduction – Harm reduction is a set of practical strategies and ideas aimed at reducing negative consequences associated with substance use. Harm Reduction is also a movement for social justice built on a belief in, and respect for, the rights of people who use substances. Harm reduction incorporates a spectrum of strategies from safer use, to managed use to abstinence to meet drug users “where they’re at,” addressing conditions of use along with the use itself.

Substance Use – use of psychoactive substances - which may be legal, illegal, or controlled for use. Intensive substance use may lead to significant impairment or distress, or other problematic results such as recurrent failure to fulfill major role obligations at work, school, or home; recurrent use in situations in which it is physically hazardous; recurrent substance-related legal problems; or continued substance use despite having persistent or recurrent social or interpersonal problems caused or exacerbated by the effects of the substance.

Substance Dependency – (“Addiction” is often used synonymously, but is more stigmatizing term) A physiological dependence on a substance, characterized by increased tolerance for the substance (need for increased amounts of the substance to achieve the desired effect, or diminished effect with continued use of the same amount of the substance) and withdrawal (the experience of mental or physical disturbance or reduced functioning upon reduction in substance use). Prolonged use of opioids may or may not result in tolerance or dependence. There are several risk/protective factors that influence a person’s likelihood of dependence.

Substance Use Disorder (SUD) – a clinical term describing a syndrome (diagnostic criteria established by American Psychiatric Association) characterized by recurrent use of alcohol and/or drugs that cause clinically significant impairment, including health problems, disability, and failure to meet major responsibilities at work, school, or home. An individual may be diagnosed with a mild, moderate to severe substance use disorder, or a person may meet the criteria, but never be diagnosed with SUD. SUD involving opioid use is termed an Opioid Use Disorder (OUD).
